

PRIVACY POLICY

Dated 13 January 2025

We care about your privacy and aim to be clear about how we manage your personal information. This privacy policy describes how your personal information is handled by Brisbane Airport Corporation and how we keep it safe.

ABOUT US

Brisbane Airport Corporation is the operator of Brisbane Airport. We handle your personal information in accordance with the Privacy Act 1988 (Cth). This policy sets out the kind of personal information we collect, why we need it, how we use and share it and how we store it.

In this policy, “we”, “us” or “our” means Brisbane Airport Corporation Pty Limited (ACN 076 870 650).

Privacy collection notices

We may also tell you more about how we manage your personal information when you deal with us. For example, when you fill in an application or accept our terms and conditions, they may contain privacy notices which will supplement this policy.

WHAT PERSONAL INFORMATION DO WE COLLECT?

In order to provide our services to you we need to collect and hold certain personal information.

- interview and assessment information such as your responses to criteria and testing, notes made by interviewers, citizenship status or proof of right to work, membership of a political, professional or trade associations.
- references from past employers and referees and background checks.

Sensitive personal information

Sometimes we collect sensitive information from you such as your health information, biometrics or criminal record. We collect sensitive information only with your prior permission and if it is relevant to your interaction with us; or we may do so when we are allowed or required by law. For example, we may collect health information when we investigate a safety incident, as part of a job application (if it is relevant to the role you are applying for) or in the form of dietary requirements for an event. We are required by law to collect your criminal history if you apply for an Aviation Security Identification Card.

Unsolicited personal information

In the event we collect personal information from you, or a third party, in circumstances where we have not requested or solicited that information (known as unsolicited information), and it is determined by us (in our absolute discretion) that the personal information is not required, we will destroy the information or ensure that the information is de-identified.

HOW DO WE COLLECT PERSONAL INFORMATION?

You give us information, for example, when you:

- communicate with us;
- buy our products or services;
- access our social media;
- enter a competition;
- subscribe for news or marketing offers;
- apply to access, drive or work in secure areas on airport; or
- apply for employment with us.

We also collect information when you come onto Brisbane Airport, use our facilities and networks, or visit our online services. For example:

- when you are captured by our security systems such as our CCTV system, number plate recognition system, mobile security devices and/or access control systems;

- when our telephone call recording technology captures your voice, and personal information you provide to us over the phone; and
- when we use network tools to collect wireless device locations from our networks and your devices

Sometimes we obtain personal information about you from others, such as:

- your employer;
- our service providers;
- persons that you have authorised to give us your information (like referees or recruitment agencies);
- partners we exchange information with so we can promote or provide products and services (such as airlines or tenants);
- marketing companies who may provide us with your contact information to help us promote our products and services;
- government and regulatory authorities; and
- publicly available sources (such as social media and online searches).

In some cases, if you do not provide us with your personal information, we may not be able to give you the products or services you need or access to our facilities.

Cookies

We use cookies to help our websites function correctly, to understand how our websites are used and to improve your user experience when you are browsing. Our cookie data does not directly identify you. Read our Cookies Policy for more information, at www.bne.com.au/cookie-policy.

WHY DO WE COLLECT AND HOW DO WE USE PERSONAL INFORMATION?

The main reason we collect and use your information is to run our business and provide our services to you. This includes activities such as:

- communicating with you;
- for security and safety purposes (including managing incidents and investigations);
- conducting ground transport activities and managing our parking facilities;
- providing you with products and services (including where applicable, third party products and services);
- confirming your identity and to assess and process applications you may make to us (for example, an Aviation Security Identification Card (ASIC), a Visitor Identity Card (VIC) and for employment);
- meeting our compliance obligations and assisting government or law enforcement agencies;
- managing our retail and commercial properties and precincts;
- carrying out construction and project management activities;
- managing our websites and online services; and
- conducting, monitoring and analysing our businesses and internal operations (including training).

Using information to improve your customer experience

In some cases, we link data and information from different sources so we can give you a better customer experience. For example, we may link personal information with data from our internal systems such as our free Wi-Fi. We analyse this information to learn more about your preferences and our customers generally, to tailor digital content and to improve our products and services.

Direct marketing

We may also use your personal information to communicate with you about news, offers, products and services we believe might interest you. We use various means of communication including, phone, SMS, email, through social media or targeted advertising on websites, through apps or as notifications to your device. Our communications will comply with applicable laws and we will obtain your consent if required.

If you have subscribed to receive direct marketing messages from us, you can:

- change your contact preferences by visiting www.bne.com.au/update, or
- unsubscribe by selecting the 'unsubscribe' option on the communication (where applicable) or by visiting www.bne.com.au/unsubscribe.

If you agree to accept direct marketing messages from our partners, they will handle your personal information in accordance with their privacy policy.

WHO DO WE SHARE PERSONAL INFORMATION WITH?

We share your information with third parties that assist us to carry out our business and deliver products and services (as described in section 4). We require third parties to use the personal information we disclose to them, for the specific role we ask them to perform. These third parties include:

- contractors assisting with our operations such as security, parking, bussing, e-tolling and maintenance;
- businesses we partner with to promote products and services such as airlines, our tenants and tourism organisations;
- banks, payment card agents and payment gateway providers;
- software and technology providers such as network services, cloud storage, platform and software providers and IT support;
- marketing, research and advertising providers;
- government, regulators and law enforcement agencies such as the Department of Home Affairs, Austrac, WorkCover and the police;
- administrative support such as recruitment, debt recovery and document destruction;
- organisations that help identify illegal activities and prevent fraud; and
- our professional advisors such as insurers, accountants, auditors, and lawyers.

We will also share your information with your authorised representatives and if we are required by law to do so.

Overseas disclosure

We run our business in Australia and generally use systems located within Australia, but sometimes we send personal information overseas. For example, if our service provider stores data overseas or operates outside of Australia or, if we are required to do so by law. We may share personal information with third parties located in: Austria, Canada, Germany, Hungary, the Philippines, Singapore, Sri Lanka, India, the United Kingdom, and the United States of America.

We require all third parties that we deal within Australia and overseas, to take appropriate measures to protect the personal information we disclose to them.

CCTV footage

We capture Closed-Circuit Television (CCTV) footage to support our operations and target risks to aviation safety and security. We only share CCTV footage in limited circumstances. For more information read our CCTV Fact Sheet. Visit our Security Information Page and select 'CCTV' to access the fact sheet.

Telephone call recordings

We may record incoming telephone calls to our corporate head office for record-keeping, training and quality-assurance purposes, and to ensure the safe and secure operation of Brisbane Airport.

HOW DO WE KEEP PERSONAL INFORMATION SECURE?

We store personal information in hardcopy and electronic form in secure buildings and systems or using trusted third parties. Some of the steps we take to protect those records include:

- maintaining up-to-date policies and standards for employees and contractors to follow
- giving our employees information security and privacy training
- using firewalls, passwords, access control, intrusion detection systems, monitoring tools and virus scanning and appropriate encryption to maintain network and system security; and
- keeping buildings secure by using access control, alarms, guards and CCTV.

When we use third parties to store personal information (such as cloud storage providers), we require them to take appropriate measures to protect it in accordance with applicable laws.

We hold personal information for as long as we need it for our business purposes or as allowed or required by law. When we no longer need it, we take reasonable steps to destroy the information securely or de-identify it.

Third party links

If you access another party's website or application from our websites (Linked Services), you may allow that other party to collect or share information about you. That other party will deal with your personal information in accordance with its own privacy policy. For more information read our Website Terms of Use at <https://www.bne.com.au/passenger/terms-use>.

HOW DO YOU ACCESS OR CORRECT YOUR PERSONAL INFORMATION?

You can contact us to request access to your personal information or ask us to correct or update information that we hold about you. Contact us using the details in the 'Contact Us' section and we will consider and respond to your request.

There is no fee to make a request but, if your request is complex or we anticipate incurring extra costs in carrying out the request, we may charge you a reasonable fee for preparing the information. If there is a fee, we will let you know and you will need to pay it before we start.

We try and make your information available within 30 days after you ask for it unless we refuse access. If we refuse access or only allow access to some information, we will tell you why in writing.

If your information does not need correcting, we will also tell you why in writing.

We will verify your identity before giving you access or making any update.

RESOLVING COMPLAINTS

If you have a complaint about how we deal with your personal information, please contact us using the details in the 'Contact Us' section.

We aim to respond to complaints quickly and to resolve them within 30 days. However, if your complaint is complex and we need more time to investigate it, we will contact you and let you know.

If you are not satisfied with our response, you can make a privacy complaint with the Office of the Australian Information Commissioner (OAIC). Contact the OAIC at enquiries@oaic.gov.au or visit www.oaic.gov.au.
